

Teacher Workshop Butterfly Encounters: In the Lab, In the Meadow, In the Classroom

This workshop will begin at The Toledo Zoo and will travel off-site to Metropark locations.

Thursday, August 13
8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.
Fee: $ 30.00

The Toledo Zoo and the Metroparks of the Toledo Area are teaming up to provide a dynamic day of butterflies for K-6 educators. This exciting hands-on workshop will include a morning at the Toledo Zoo touring the butterfly conservation/propagation facility to learn about captive breeding. Next, a program of butterfly basics - including each participant receiving a butterfly curriculum, DVD and poster - will help prepare you for an afternoon in the field with a naturalist. We will travel out to visit a release site in the Oak Openings Metropark to learn about transects, habitat restoration and how endangered species are reintroduced to the wild. A trip to view butterflies in their habitats will complete this comprehensive experience designed to prepare and inspire you to better teach our students.
